

JUNIOR LEAGUE OF WINSTON-SALEM INDUCTS NEW MEMBER CLASS

Winston-Salem, NC – September 14, 2008 – The Junior League of Winston-Salem (JLWS) is pleased to welcome the sixty seven members of the new member class to their growing ranks.

"The Junior League of Winston-Salem is so pleased to welcome these women who are interested in volunteerism to help us in our mission of developing the potential of women, improving the community, and promoting volunteerism" said Pam Ball, JLWS president.

The new members began their orientation with a seminar Saturday, August 16 to introduce them to the Junior League of Winston-Salem's rich history and impact in the Winston-Salem community which includes the restoration of Old Salem's Timothy Vogler House, establishing the Rainbow House of Winston-Salem now known as the Ronald McDonald House, and the construction of the Children's Museum of Winston-Salem. In addition to their on-going training, this very committed civic-oriented group of women will participate in the Build A Birdhouse project with Big Brothers Big Sisters, Project Build-A-Bike with SCAN, READ TO ME FESTIVAL, Kids in the Kitchen, and the Junior League of Winston-Salem's annual Rummage Sale.

"During the seminar I was stunned to learn how many inspiring projects the Junior League of Winston-Salem is involved in. The obvious impact that these women have in their community is both profound and pervasive. I was beyond impressed by this group of women and feel privileged to now be included among them." said Megan Risen, one of the members of the 2008 Junior League of Winston-Salem new member class.

A complete list of the sixty-seven new members is on the following page.

The Junior League of Winston-Salem is made up of approximately 1,000 women who are committed to building better communities. Its members are career women, working mothers, stay-at-home moms, full-time and part-time volunteers. Although the JLWS may reflect a variety of races, religions, and ethnic origins, its members are brought together by a common vision to strengthen and improve our community. The Junior League of Winston-Salem inducts new members annually. Information and applications for membership are available year round at jlws.org or at Junior League of Winston-Salem Headquarters, 390 South Liberty Street, Winston-Salem, NC.

The Junior League of Winston-Salem, Inc. is an organization of women committed to promoting volunteerism, developing the potential of women, and improving the community through the effective action and leadership of trained volunteers. Its purpose is exclusively educational and charitable. More information on the Junior League of Winston-Salem can be found at www.jlws.org.
